FAIR SPOILED BY RAIN TODAY

Drizzle Most of the Day Reduces Size of the Crowd to Some Extent.

MANY FEATURES TOMORROW

With Favorable Weather Friday Will be Banner Day—Motorcycle Races Today.

Little Ruth Fear when her horse acted badly while she was warming up for an exhibition mile this afternoon, slid off the sulky and allowed the horse to pace around the track unguided. The horse frightened in the back stretch and threw itself with its hobbles, but was not badly hurt.

Inclement weather probably kept many people away from the fair today, but the crowd was very large despite the fact that rain fell much of the time during the day. Fair officials said that the crowd was not as large as it has been in past years.

With good weather tomorrow, the banner day is expected. That day promises to be the best one, too. Besides an excellent race card, which includes three of the best races of the fair, little Ruth Fear will drive exhibition miles and the slide for life will take place. The Indianapolis News Newsboys' band will furnish the music tomorrow.

Tomorrow little Miss Fear, who has attracted considerable attention with her exhibition heats, will drive a horse from her own stable, Dr. F., with which she created such a sensation at Muncie last week. There she drove the horse with perfect ease a half mile in 1:03 and another in 1:05.

This afternoon's program was started off with a motorcycle race which proved so popular yesterday afternoon. Harry Rainey won by three lengths the three-mile event, and Bert Hileman, who won yesterday, finished a close second. The race drew a large crowd to the track. The other three racers finished in the following order: Clarence Cecil, Bert Moorman and Joe Hitt.

The stock show this morning brought out a fine list of entries. In the general purpose class many Rush county exhibitors were out after the awards and they got a goodly number of them. It was the same with the general purpose farm team class.

In the cattle show which included milk breeds and sweepstakes alone, John Boyd's herd of twenty fancy Jerseys was the only one which competed. All of the prizes, of course, went to the Riverside stock farm in Jersey City of which Mr. Boyd is owner.

He showed all of the show cattle which he has and which is generally divided into four herds so that they may be shown at four different fairs and still enter in all of the classes. The cattle judge said this morning that it was the finest exhibition of Jersey cattle that he ever saw. Mr. Boyd was complimented many times on the herd.

The herd includes Derry's Golden Jolly which was the grand champion over all comers at the Milwaukee show when he was only one year old. He has taken the blue ribbon in every show which he ever entered. Togo is the prize milk cow of the herd and is a perfect specimen of the Jersey.

The pony show brought out a finer list of entries this year than ever before. The interest in this show was greater than it was in any other event in the show ring. Robert and Ben Hume, who have a number of well bred and high class ponies, won practically all of the premiums.

WON IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Brooks Drove John D. Three Fast
Miles at London, O.

Horrie Brooks won first money yesterday at the London, Ohio, fair with John D. in the 2:17 pace. Brooks had little trouble winning and took the race in three straight heats. The track was very fast and John D. made the best time of any horse in the various races. The time of the three heats was as follows: 2:13 3/4, 2:13 1/2 and 2:14.

WILD WEST SHOW COMES TOMORROW

Young Buffalo, With His Famous Troupe of Western People, Comes From Columbus.

IN SHELBYVILLE YESTERDAY

Young Buffalo's wild west show will give two exhibitions here tomorrow, one in the afternoon at two and the other in the evening at eight. The show will arrive over the Pennsylvania early in the morning from Columbus, where it appeared today. The show was in Shelbyville yesterday and brought forth rare comment from the press of that city. The show is similar to the famous Buffalo Bill's wild west show and is said to be on even a larger scale. Many famous men and women of the plains who have gained fame by their feats of daring are with the show. The same show exhibited in Indianapolis early in the season which is sufficient reason for it being classed a production very much out of the ordinary. The street parade, decidedly unique in its nature, will be given at the usual time in the morning.

REASON FOR RAIN HAS BEEN FOUND

Stock Company, Here This Week,
Has Had Inclement Weather in Its Trail All Season.

CAME AFTER LONG DROUGHT

The rain of yesterday was gladly received by the farmers of Rush county, as it is the first one for several weeks. The drought was becoming a serious matter as the grass was drying up so that it was impossible for suitable pasture to be found for stock. The rain of yesterday was not sufficient to offset the drought of several weeks but it helped a little. Farmers are praying for more rain soon.

It was thought by most farmers that rain would not fall in Rush county soon and they are looking about for a reason now. To superstitious people, the story that the manager of the G. Carlton Guy players, who are here this week, tells, may sound plausible. He says that his show has not appeared any place this summer without bringing rain after a long drought. At Warren last week their show was the signal for a heavy rain on the heels of a drought of several weeks' duration.

AT NOON FRIDAY.

The Daily Republican will be issued from the press tomorrow at noon so as to allow the Daily Republican force to enjoy the last afternoon of the Rush county fair, which is in accordance with an annual custom of the paper.

CONTINUES FIGHT FOR NEW STATION

Anonymous Letter Writer Addresses Communication to Retail Merchants Association.

HE URGES ACTION AT ONCE

Says Petition For C. H. & D. Station
Would be Acted Upon in Thirty Days by Commission.

There is a resident in Indianapolis who is greatly concerned over the fact that Rushville needs a new C. H. & D. station.

That resident is unknown to the Daily Republican. He or she, whichever it may be, has written several anonymous letters to the Daily Republican urging that an effort be made to cause the railroad to erect a new station here. The person is believed to be a former resident of Rushville, but the reason for their interest in Rushville is unknown.

This time the anonymous letter writer urges that the members of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association take up the matter and push it to a finish. The person urges that business men circulate a petition and file it with the railroad commission. This is all that is necessary to get a new station here. The letter follows: Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 23, 1911. To Rushville Retail Merchants Association:

Gentlemen—Judge Woods of the Railroad Commission of Indiana was asked Tuesday if the city attorney of Rushville had taken any steps towards securing a new C. H. & D. station, and replied that he had done nothing. This matter seems to be at a standstill so far as your local city attorney is concerned.

Now, will not one member of your association circulate a petition among the other members when you are in session, and get the required signatures and forward them to the Railroad Commission of Indiana at Indianapolis. This will be perfectly proper and will be acted on in thirty days from date, according to W. J. Wood, chairman of the State railroad commission.

This means a new structure for Rushville without a penny of cost whatever to the people of Rushville.

I would gladly get the petition signed and presented, but was informed by the railroad commission that I being a non-resident, it would be useless.

Gentlemen, this opportunity that the law gives you, should not be cast aside."

CHICKEN THIEF AT WORK

Mrs. M. J. Ogden Reports Loss of 25 to Police.

Mrs. M. J. Ogden, living in East Eighth street, reported the loss of twenty-five chickens this morning to the police. Mrs. Ogden did not discover the robbery until this morning when she went to let the chickens out of the chicken-house. The chickens weighed about a pound and a half apiece and were of mixed colors. She has no clue to the guilty party.

THROWN FROM MOTORBIKE

James Foley, who expected to take part in the motorcycle races at the fair ground, was painfully injured while practicing at the fair ground Tuesday evening. His machine skidded and he was thrown heavily to the ground. He is compelled to walk with crutches.

WATER METERS FOR VIOLATORS

City Council in Special Session Decides to Enforce Ordinance and Supt. Will Start Work.

MAYOR BLACK OFFERS PLAN

Order Street Commissioner to Clean Main and Second Streets as Often as Necessary.

ORDER OF COUNCIL.

The council at the special meeting last night ordered the superintendent to strictly enforce Section 21 of the ordinance in reference to the use of water. Said section provides that: The Common Council of said city reserves the right to use meters in any and all cases, and to charge for measured water instead of being governed by the scheduled rates. When meters are in use all water supplied through such service must be paid for at meter rates. The expense of the meters will be charged to the property owners and cost from $18.00 to $60.00.

B. A. BLACK, Mayor.
Attest: Thos. S. Cauley,
City Clerk.

Mayor Black called a special meeting of the city council last night for the purpose of discussing the water situation. Mr. Black had a little plan, which he wished to put to the council for their consideration. The city has had considerable trouble in making the water consumers obey the order of the mayor prohibiting the use of hose for sprinkling purposes.

Mr. Black's plan was to pass an ordinance making it unlawful to sprinkle. The penalty, if the party was found guilty, was to be a heavy fine. It was thought that with a fine attached, the people would obey the order. Superintendent of the water and light plant A. T. Mahin, when asked for an opinion on the matter, stated that he was opposed to it because some of the people to spite the city and get around the law would be wasteful with the water. Mr. Mahin said that he believed the majority of the people would come near obeying the order against sprinkling if the city would be lenient instead of trying to drive them. The members of the council agreed with Mr. Mahin.

Mr. Mahin's plan was to place meters where the inspectors found the people to be disobeying the order.

If a party should sprinkle after the inspectors had given warning, then one of the large meters would be installed. The cost of the water would be great enough it is believed, to make the consumer discontinue the practice.

This idea was looked upon as a good one and resolutions to this effect were drawn up by the city attorney. It is thought that if the people who have been violating the Mayor's orders know that they may be compelled to pay by the meter if they use city water, the practice will cease and no further trouble will arise.

The wrong impression has been given to many concerning the water in the reservoir and because there is plenty there some think they should be allowed to sprinkle. Mr. Mahin said that they tried to keep the water up to the five limit and the pressure is reduced or increased accordingly. If the supply in the reservoir is lessened the pressure is decreased. It may be that early in the day there is a good pressure and the supply gradually decreases. When this happens the pressure is decreased and the reservoir allowed to gain accordingly.

Resolutions were offered by the council ordering the street commissioner to clean Main and Second street as necessary. Mr. Kelley is to use his own judgment as to the necessary part and it is said the streets are to be kept in good condition or other arrangements will be made.

AGED RESIDENT SUCCEUMBS

John Biggs Expires After a Fourth Stroke of Paralysis.

John Biggs, 70 years old, died last evening about 6 o'clock at the home of his son Orval, north of the city. Mr. Biggs had been ill a number of months and his death had been expected. Recently he supposed his fourth stroke of paralysis which caused his death. He is survived by several children. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

SQUIRE KRATZER HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Knocked to Pavement and Front Wheel Passed Over Left Leg,
Below the Knee.

HE ESCAPED SERIOUS INJURY

Squire James Kratzer was hit by an automobile, driven by James Archey of Greensburg, this morning and escaped with only a few bruises. The accident happened near the intersection of Main and Second streets. Archey was driving slow and Mr. Kratzer failed to see him coming. The squire was knocked to the pavement and one of the front wheels of the machine passed over his left leg just below the knee. Mr. Kratzer was removed to the Johnson drug store, where he soon revived. That his leg was not broken is considered remarkable as the auto was a heavy one. Mr. Kratzer does not hold Mr. Archey responsible as the accident was unavoidable and neither was at fault.

ATTACKED BY JERSEY BULL

William Lucas, Keeper With Boyd Herd, is Tossed Into Air, While in Show Ring.

SUFFERED ONE FRACTURED RIB

William Lucas of this city, while in the show ring at the fair ground this morning, was tossed several feet by a bull in John F. Boyd's herd, and suffered painful injuries. Lucas, according to eyewitnesses walked too near the animal's head and it made one dart at him, throwing him several feet in the air. The bull struck Lucas just below the heart and lifted his body clear off of the ground. One of his ribs was fractured by the blow which the bull struck. The bull, according to Mr. Boyd, is not especially vicious. Lucas, after being attended by a physician, was able to go back to the fair ground.

WEATHER.

Unsettled tonight. Showers in the south portion. Cold in extreme south and Friday fair.

NOT IN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON

Rush County Teachers Institute Adjourned After Hearing Three Lectures in Forenoon.

CROWD AS LARGE AS USUAL

Dr. VanOrmer Pleased With His Lecture on "The Greatest Achievement in History of Education."

The teachers institute adjourned shortly after 11 o'clock this morning until tomorrow morning. The teachers were given an opportunity to attend the fair and many took advantage of the half day's vacation. This morning's program consisted of two lectures on primary work by Miss Dietz and a talk by Dr. Van Ormer.

Miss Dietz opened her first talk by asking the question, "Are all children able to understand literature of a high class?" She proved that they are able to understand and gave as illustrations some stories. Miss Dietz also gave illustrations of lessons and gave hints toward getting the children to have a motive in studying a lesson. According to her, the teachers should ask questions about things that are of interest in the lesson, in such a manner as to create interest and a desire on the part of the pupils to study.

In her second talk today before the institute, Miss Dietz illustrated how crude devices could be used to advantage in reading lessons. One way was the drawing of pictures. She emphasized the importance of drill.

Dr. VanOrmer gave an interesting and entertaining lecture on "The General Development of the Child." He gave two theories on child development. The first was evolution, as was shown that at special times changes take place in the child's development. The other, according to Dr. VanOrmer is race recapitulation. He stated that the stages of development were not based on years but on special times. All through the different stages the child will show certain traits of development and these traits either rise or decrease but never disappear.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. VanOrmer lectured on "The Greatest Achievement in History of Education." He pointed out the great difficulty of picking out the greatest thing. He named a number of great men who had accomplished great things and chose Dr. Samuel G. Hollowell. Dr. VanOrmer commented upon Hollowell's methods and devices which had made him great. According to Dr. VanOrmer, the greatest of Dr. Hollowell's assets was the faith he had in his work and pupils. He brought out the point that the teacher and pupil must have faith in each other or the work would not amount to much and would be a loss instead of a gain. His lecture on this subject was said by many to have been the best of the series.

RELEASED FROM JAIL.

Shelbyville Democrat: Walter English, who was placed in jail Monday following failure to pay a fine and costs imposed in the court of Justice Pryor on a charge of failing to pay a board bill, contracted at the Connelly house, was released Tuesday as his parents, whose home is at Rushville, sent the money to him to pay the fine and costs.

WATSON BACK TO PLATFORM

James E. Watson was here yesterday for a short time while making a trip from one city to another where he is delivering chautauqua lectures. He expected to talk at the Clinton, Ill., chautauqua this afternoon. He will finish his engagement next week.

AMUSEMENTS

Writers of popular western fiction in search of names for their heroes would find the payroll of the Young Buffalo Wild West show, which will make its initial bid for local favor in the Circus Grounds tomorrow afternoon and night, veritable gold mine of suggestions. The poetic name of one cow puncher is "Bottle Nose Ben," another answers to the cognomen of "Zinct Tooth Bill." Owen Wistler might make use of "Bad Lands Charley" for one of his characters, while "Alkali Pete" would look very well displayed in red on the front page of the wild and wooly literature so dear to the heart of the young American.

The cowboy is not alone in his penchant for absurd and outlandish names. The noble red man furnishes an assortment that any first-class distiller would revel in. "Snake Bite," "Laughing Water," "Hot Foot," "Big Deer," and "Stiff Knee" are but samples of what a distorted imagination can produce. The management of the Young Buffalo Wild West shows do not see anything attractive in any of the above names. They represent individuals who take part in the ensemble of the show. Individually and collectively, they do not draw one dollar to the ticket wagon. There are, however, a score or more names on this same payroll that are producers, that attract dollars to the show. Prominent among them is Annie Oakley, the world famous woman rifle shot. Miss Oakley has appeared in all cities of the civilized world; has appeared before all the crowned heads of Europe and is the possessor of many valuable gifts from the royal family in recognition of her wonderful skill with the rifle. Curtis Liston, undefeated champion rifle shot of America, is another name that possesses drawing power. Ambrose Means, the reckless American cowboy who invaded the interior of the East African veldt and succeeded in capturing alive rhinoceri and other wild animals with a lariat, is a big drawing card. There are many other celebrities with the Young Buffalo Wild West shows, but lack of space forbids their enumeration. A big street parade will be given at 10:00 o'clock on the morning of the exhibition, at which time the entire aggregation will be seen decked out in their finest fathers and finery.

HEADACHE

Instant relief—that's the effect of Caparine upon the most severe headache, from whatever cause, whether it's overwork, biliousness, constipation, fatigue or train sickness. Caparine ends the headache and acts as a tonic, goes straight to the cause of the headache and begins removing it.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find Compound I get great relief." Many that by using Foley's Honey and Tar others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. F. B. Johnson & Co.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. Mr. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in result—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. F. B. Johnson & Co.

BUYERS' MEET TO BE A BIG THING

Indianapolis Preparing to Entertain Merchants.

THOUSANDS ARE EXPECTED

Invitations Being Sent Out by the Indianapolis Trade Association For the Buyers' Meet the First Week in September Are Receiving a Degree of Response That Points to a Big Attendance.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Invitations to the buyers' meet to be conducted by the association during the week of the Indiana state fair, Sept. 4 to 8, are being mailed by the members of the Indianapolis Trade association.

The invitation is issued in the name of the association and sets forth the many attractions to be found in Indianapolis during state fair week, and urges merchants everywhere to take advantage of them as well as the trade opportunities to be extended by the association members at that time.

LeRoy E. Snyder, secretary of the association, has received requisitions for nearly 70,000 of these invitations from association members. This means that many merchants in Indianapolis territory are to receive personal invitations from the trade association to come to Indianapolis state fair week. The association members are showing great interest in the coming meet.

HE WAS ACQUITTED

State Failed to Make Good in Case Against Mine Official.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 24.—Franz Guenther, aged fifty-four, charged with the theft of chickens from Jack Pogue, one of his neighbors, was acquitted by City Judge Philip Gould. The state failed to make a case against Guenther. Guenther is vice president of the Banner Coal company. He says his arrest was the result of spite work on the part of Mr. Pogue.

OUT OF BUSINESS

Not a Headache or Heartache in This Batch of Booze.

Linton, Ind., Aug. 24.—The police force of this city poured into the street the bottles of beer and whisky confiscated last week in raids. Sixteen hundred bottles of beer and 1,000 half-pint bottles of whisky were emptied into the sewer. Two fifty-gallon barrels of gin were also relieved of their contents. It is estimated that $3,000 worth of "wet" goods has been confiscated here this year.

LOOKING FURTHER

Commissioners Decline to Accept Verdict in the Larsen Case.

Fowler, Ind., Aug. 24.—A reward of $2,500 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Peder Larsen has been offered by the county council.

Larsen's body was found in his sister with a cut in the top of the head. Coroner LeSage returned a verdict of suicide, but the grand jury investigated and declared Larsen was murdered. No arrests have been made.

Failed to See Car.

Fortville, Ind., Aug. 24.—Edmund Brizendine, a section foreman on the Union Traction railway, who lives here, was struck by an eastbound traction car at McCordsville and probably fatally injured. Both legs were crushed. He was watching a passing Big Four train and failed to see the car.

Blood Poisoning Ensued.

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 24.—Harry R. Embree, state field examiner, former auditor of Gibson county, is dead at his home here. He was forty-two years old. Several weeks ago, while engaged in examiner's work at Terre Haute, he bruised the palm of his hand. Blood poisoning resulted.

Killed by His Own Gun.

Bedford, Ind., Aug. 24.—F. S. Macey of Terre Haute, express messenger on the Southeastern line, was instantly killed at Williams, Ind. He was unloading ice at the station when a revolver he carried fell from his holster, the bullet taking effect in his stomach, killing him instantly.

Wagon Ran Over Baby.

Winchester, Ind., Aug. 24.—Charles Thornburg's boy, two years old, after begging a ride on a gravel wagon, turned on the seat to pick up a few pebbles from the load, and fell. Before the wagon could be stopped his head was crushed beneath the rear wheel.

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down Stairs—

TIZ Cured Her Quick.

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes." No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Piles Can Be Cured for 10c

If you have spent dollar after dollar for apparatus and medicine, you may deem it peculiar that you can be instantly relieved and probably cured for a dime. But it is a fact, and after you can prove it with a 10-cent box of Plex, "the quick-healing salve." The results will make you regret that you never tried before.

Plex is a wonder-working, penetrating ointment that destroys germs, cleans and heals like magic. A big box for 10 cents, and it has a hundred uses in every home.

One application cures itching piles. A few more applications cure sore, aching feet, and produce eye-opening results in eczema, dandruff or other skin diseases. Splendid for sore, stiff muscles. Unequaled for cuts, burns, etc.

Plex costs only a dime, and it's the biggest household bargain you've ever offered. Your druggist has it, or can easily get it for you. Sent prepaid on receipt or price by the O. C. Co., Terre Haute, Ind.

SAGE AND SULPHUR CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair, and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Mosquitos Bad This Year.

But don't scratch the poisoned skin. Use a mild, cooling, healing compound that stops the itch instantly, draws out the poison in the skin and protects it against further trouble.

Just a mild, cleansing wash of oil of wintergreen, thymol and a few other ingredients known as the D. D. D. Prescription (so famous in cases of Eczema) and you have mosquito protection for the season.

Yes, instant relief—now only 25c. Lytle's Drug Store, Rushville, Ind.

SOUTH WALES HAS AN ANTI-SEMITIC RIOT

Jews In Mining Town Forced to Leave.

London, Aug. 24.—Renewed rioting in south Wales is reported. Seven retail shops were entered and wrecked. The raids are systematically anti-Semitic, recalling the middle ages or the conditions that have existed in Russia. The retail trade in the small mining towns and villages in south Wales is mostly in the hands of Jews whom rumors accuse of exploiting the inhabitants and forcing them in various ways to trade at their stores. The Jews emphatically repudiate the charges, but the lower classes greedily believe the rumors. The work of plunder and destruction is carried out for the most part by hoodlums. The loss will aggregate many thousands of pounds sterling. Many Jews are now homeless. Most of them have packed what property remained to them and have fled.

A HORRID DEATH

Electrocution of Kentucky Negro Attended by Shocking Scene.

Eddyville, Ky., Aug. 24.—When Oliver Locke, a negro wife murderer, was paying the penalty for his crime at the penitentiary here and 2,000 volts of electricity were coursing through his body, he struggled for twenty-eight minutes until he broke the leather straps that bound his arms and legs to the death chair. He then toppled to the floor and apparently succumbed, but an examination revealed the fact that he was slowly reviving. His body was again strapped to the chair and 2,500 volts of electricity turned on. Several minutes elapsed before life was extinct.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The Passengers Were Saved.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 24.—The steamer Harry Lee, plying between Memphis and Ashport, Mo., sank at Brandywine, forty-five miles from Memphis. Fireman Williams and two negro dockhands were drowned. Fifteen passengers and the crew of twenty were taken from the boat in safety.

A TENSE SCENE IN COURT ROOM

Alleged Wife Munderer Plays Game With Death.

BEATTIE MAKES HIS DISCARD

In Eliminating From Tentative Jury the Four Necessary to Bring the List Down to the Required Twelve, the Young Defendant Stood Alone Before Fatal Chance and Played the Gambler's Game.

Chesterfield Courtthouse, Va., Aug. 24.—There came a moment yesterday afternoon when a white-faced young man with tightened lips stood alone before fatal chance and played the gambler's game. He was Henry Clay Beattie, jr., on trial for wife murder, and the game he played alone was that of trying pick from a row of sixteen faces of tentative jurymen four in which there might be lurking the shadow of a menace to him.

During two days the judge and his counsel had gone over the venires, listening to the qualifications of the farmers of Chesterfield to sit in judgment on the young fellow's life. Very carefully they had winnowed out sixteen men, according to the law of Virginia, who were to sit for a final elimination to the jury number of twelve. Judge Watson had with grave courtesy once more reviewed the list, had made each man stand and say that he was still a fit person to render impartial judgment according to the facts and the law.

Beattie, his lawyers and his father, retired to a little jury room with the list of the sixteen and consulted for fifteen minutes. They came back. All sat down but the young prisoner, who stood with his whitened knuckles braced on the table in front of him and looked from face to face in the jury box across the aisle.

Minutes passed and there was absolute silence in the little courtroom. Still his eyes passed slowly from face to face and the muscles of his jaw twitched. All of a sudden his shoulders went back with a quick jerk of decision. He sat down and with a pencil struck off four of the names on the list. The clerk read the names of the four jurors thus eliminated. So the young man accused of having murdered his wife on a back road in Chesterfield county a month ago made his discard and was ready to play the game with death.

The jury that is to try Beattie is one of comparatively young men, the average age being between thirty and forty.

INDIANA FRUIT

Makes a Hit With Visitors at Horticultural Meeting.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 24.—Fruit growers sending exhibits here for display during the summer meeting of the Indiana Horticultural Society, have made a good impression. Visitors from outside the state have been astonished at the character of Indiana fruit, and many have commented favorably. The exhibit of apples, peaches, grapes and other fruit not only shows exceptional quality, but it is also extensive. Many varieties of flowers are displayed.

Must Pay For Old Trespass.

Denver, Col., Aug. 24.—By a decision handed down by Federal Judge Lewis the Denver & Rio Grande railroad will be compelled to pay a vast sum for timber trespasses committed years ago, when the road was built. The amount may run well into the millions, as the government, at the time of filing its suits in 1902, estimated the value of the standing trees cut illegally by the agents of the road at $10,000,000. Judge Lewis will appoint a master to determine the exact value.

They Fought With Axes.

Many, La., Aug. 24.—More like a desperate combat of the middle ages than a modern tragedy was the killing of H. H. Hays and the serious wounding of Walter L. Brewster. Axes were the weapons used. Four men engaged in the struggle and brothers fought on opposite sides. There had been a trivial dispute, but nothing serious enough to warrant the attack. All four of the men were employed by a lumber company and were at work in the woods near here.

An Interesting Society Note.

Tamworth, N. H., Aug. 24.—The summer colony here has learned that in the fall Miss Esther Cleveland, eldest daughter of the late President Cleveland, would marry Randolph D. West of New York, son of Prof. Andrew West of Princeton university. Miss Cleveland is about twenty years old, and one of the most popular of the younger set here.

Long Sleep Is Ended.

Vandellia, Ill., Aug. 24.—Miss Hazel Schmidt, who slept almost continuously for 115 days, has regained normal consciousness. She did not leave her bed for four months. She now appears as well as the day she entered on her record-breaking sleep. She refuses to talk of her sleep, and has gone to the country to avoid curiosity seekers.

CLOUD BURST DOES ENORMOUS DAMAGE

Beautiful Lake Section of Italy Flooded.

Rome, Aug. 24.—Yesterday afternoon a hurricane swept over the lake section. The storm was accompanied by a terrific downpour of rain. Villages near Lakes Como, Lugano and Valtellina were almost destroyed. There was great damage done at Oria and Morbegno. The rivers are flooded, railroads washed out, crops ruined and telegraph and telephone lines cut. It is reported that about forty persons were drowned in the flooded rivers.

GAS LET GO

Streator National Bank Partially Wrecked by Explosion.

Streator, Ill., Aug. 24.—An explosion of illuminating gas in the basement storage vault of the Streator National bank blew out all the windows and wrecked one wall. A gas heater used for drying purposes in the basement had been left open, and when Fred Bertaux, a messenger, entered the vault and turned on a fan to clear the atmosphere an electric spark ignited the gas accumulation. Bertaux was blown half way upstairs and seriously injured.

GOING BACK HOME

Andrew Toth, Whom State Robbed of Twenty Years, Leaves America.

New York, Aug. 24.—Andrew Toth, the Pittsburg steel mill laborer, who served twenty years in prison for a murder he did not commit, and was pardoned when the real murderer made a dying confession, has sailed for his home in Hungary to pass his declining years with his wife. Andrew Carnegie has given him a life pension of $10 a month.

Accused of Defrauding Company.

Shelbyville, Ill., Aug. 24.—William O'Rourke was brought here from Chicago to answer to a charge of embezzlement. He was agent for the Century Coal company at Chicago, and it is alleged he failed to account for several thousand dollars' worth of coal shipped him.

Atwood Nearing Goal.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Harry N. Atwood's biplane rested on the ball grounds at Castleton, nine miles from here, last night, with 134 miles still to go before New York is sighted. The aviator expects to conclude his trip today.

The dark man we saw buying Japanese lanterns in one of our stores the other night must be the Japanese spy. What more proof is needed?

Mr. Taft goes West Sept. 16, and of course no one will distract his mind from the momentous problems of statesmanship by mentioning the subject of politics.

Kaiser William is going to review 140 German war vessels Sept. 5, but only about 14 of them would be really necessary to protect German ports and property from hostile neighbors.

Champ Clark says he is not a candidate for president, but no doubt the door bell will be found in perfect working order if the people happened to call on him some day.

Julius Caesar Burrows begins to despair of the republic, but if the country goes to the demimion bowwows, just think of all the jobs there will be for kennel keepers.

The working people generally favor arbitration. They have little use for paying war taxes and giving up their boys as soldiers because some politician thought a war would make a good election issue.

In view of the obstinate preference of most people for buying their poisons of the druggist rather than of the baker and the grocer, Mr. Taft would better go a little slow about bouncing "Doc" Wiley.

Annexation is figuring in the Canadian election, though no one around here wants Canada. Congress would have to get up at 10 a. m. to legislate for so many new states, and that could not be brought about.

George Perkins says trust competition means sweat shops and child labor. But surely our benevolent children are willing to work in the sweat shops so the down trodden millionaire can have his motor cars and steam yachts.

The registration law passed by the last legislature will cost the people of the state something over a half million dollars next year directly out of the county treasuries. It will place heavy financial burdens on political organizations, making certain a much larger expenditure on politics than has been known before. The Republican believes that a registration law is a step forward, but the law enacted last winter provides machinery that is entirely too cumbersome and expensive. It will be found, too, that the political machine will do a better job of getting its vote registered than the unorganized masses. As in the case of the corrupt practices act, no protection was given to the people in local option elections under the new registration law, but the liquor interests are left free to overrun the polls with illegal voters without assuming the least risk. The last general assembly was completely controlled by one big, grasping, selfish, corrupt special interest—the liquor system—and it gave little time or thought to any legislation not intended to further the designs of this gigantic trust.

EDITORIALETTES.

Anyway the council meetings help out a little when things get sort'a monotonous.

It seems to us that that little girl who is giving exhibition miles at the fair ground has a very inappropriate name.

One nice thing about aviation, there aren't any old veterans to stand around and tell of the flights of '62.

Probably that Bethany park speaker who severely arraigned the church dinners the other day, got in after all of the thighs and legs were gone.

Sometimes the easiest way out of an embarrassing situation is to admit your ignorance and call it square.

The sweeping of the streets has been left to the street commissioner entirely. It is inferred that if his judgment about when a thing is or is not clean proves to be rotten, other arrangements will be made.

Popular lecturers sometimes decry the common practice which they term the "pursuit of the dollar." Wonder if they ever got any by whistling at them?

He wandered aimlessly about the streets. This being fair week, the police naturally supposed that he was one of those former resident things come back for a little glance into the past. He was hook-nosed, wore a pair of glass-rimmed glasses and his shoes were dusty. He was a restless cuss. Presently he approached a man on the street and gave out this plaintive cry, "If Cleopatra should happen to violate the old Mosaic law, could Julius Caesar?"

NO MORE ASTHMA.

Edward J. Hancock, formerly connected with this paper, now in charge of the headquarters of the Indiana Forestry association, 36 W. Washington street, Indianapolis, has found a cure for asthma and hay fever at this season of the year, something he has not been able to enjoy for twelve years, and consequently he is greatly elated over the find of the remedy. Mr. Hancock travels the railroads and roads without danger of asthma from the dust since he uses this remedy.

ACCIDENTS NOT SO FATAL.

The accident bulletin for the quarter ended June 30, issued by the railroad commission of Indiana, will come from the State printer within the next few days. According to W. J. Woods, chairman of the commission, it will show a decrease in the casualty lists of both steam and interurban roads in Indiana. Chairman Woods said he wished to make no comparisons between the showing of steam and interurban roads in the accident reports.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have the usual change of program tonight. The first picture is an Essanay, "The Sheriff's Brother." It is a great western drama, dealing with the search for an outlaw who turns out to be a brother of the sheriff. The other film is a Selig comedy, "The Mission Worker." A new song will be sung.

The Vaudet will have three films tonight, two of which are Bison feature pictures. The Bison films are "His Lordships' Hunting Trip" and "Cheyenne Medicine Man." Both are said to be fine pictures and are complete in all respects. The last picture is a Rex comedy entitled "Five Hours." A new illustrated song will be sung.

The G. Carlton Guy players again pleased a large audience last night with the only farce in their repertoire "Uncle Josh." The play contained no serious or dramatic scenes and was only intended for one big laugh and the audience was in an uproar throughout the production. The comedy was clean and the players were well received. The specialties as usual were up to the standard and are proving to be a feature. Tonight they will present the feature play of the week, "Dora Thorne," as dramatized from the novel of the same name. The play is a strong one and was dramatized especially for the Guy players. The band will give the usual concert tonight on the court house square.

Family Reunions

The Daily Republican earnestly invites secretaries or any other officials of family reunion associations to send the dates and places of holding the annual meetings to this office so that they may be published and in that manner many members may be notified who might not otherwise receive the date for the annual event. The Republican will be pleased to receive dates and places of holding as soon as possible as well as accounts of the gatherings as soon as possible after they take place. The following family reunions have already been announced:

The annual reunion of the Cummins family will be held at Cummins' park, east of Daleville, on Sunday, August 27. All persons related to the family are invited to come with well-filled lunch baskets and enjoy a pleasant day.

The Second Annual Reunion of the Widener family will be held Thursday August 31, in the grove at the home of Oliver P. Widener, three miles north of Pendleton. A number of Wideners live in Rush county and the officers of the reunion association, not having their address, have taken this means of notifying them of the time of the reunion, and they are urged to be present or write Robert Widener, Pendleton, Ind., giving their address, that they may be notified of future reunions of the family.

The fifth annual reunion of the Swain family will be held at the Rush county fair grounds Labor day, September 4. H. C. Pitts is secretary of the association.

The annual reunion of the Sixty-Eighth Indiana regiment will be held September 5, in Rooms 11 and 12, State House, Indiana. John Taylor is president and Isabel White, secretary.

The eleventh annual reunion of the Daniel Hall family will be held at Riverside Park, Indianapolis, on Tuesday, September fifth.

The Addison family will hold their reunion in Crafts grove, east of Charlottesville, on Thursday, Sept. 7. Adah Addison is secretary.

OF HUMAN INTEREST.

Do you feel that you are getting old, that life is losing a little of that which makes it most sweet and that the joys of yesterday no longer appeal to you? If such is the case don't start off, like Ponce De Leon of old, after which the mythical "Fountain of Youth" but just station yourself near one of the candy cases in any down town store where the coming generation trade their horded coppers for the sweets that tasted so good to all in the school days that have long passed in history. Do you know that they still make and sell the same candy cigarettes, the same ice cream dishes, the same licorice sticks and all the rest of the confections that used to tickle the palate in the days of yesterday?

In came two little girls with a cent between them. They buy ten "jaw-breakers" and divided them. Then came three youngsters each with his penny. One takes a grab bag, one a chocolate broom and the other a stick of that long white gum that you probably have forgotten all about.

Next a boy with a nickel invests in butter scotch and asks to have it put in a sack. You are wise right away. Some little miss with a pink frock and a blue hair ribbon is going to get that. Soon two tots come in after "all day suckers." Can't you remember just how they used to taste?

Business slacks up and when there is nobody around you invest in a dime's worth of it "all mixed up." And after you start down street munching your assortment you are surprised how good they taste and how happy you have been made by such a small investment. Some day when you have the blues and the sun don't shine with its customary brightness just hang around the penny candy case and see if it won't have more effect than a dozen bottles of tonic.

There is where the real "Fountain of Youth" is to be discovered.

BANK VICTIMIZED BY ANCIENT BUNCO GAME

Fake Check Deposit Worked By Smooth Stranger.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 24.—By a game so old that it has been forgotten, James Tilton, a stranger is believed to have fleeced the Bank of Walton out of $500, and the police have no trace of him. Tilton appeared in Walton about a week ago and deposited a check for $500 on a Kokomo bank in the Bank of Walton. He said he intended to buy a farm and settle there. The bank officials were a little skeptical and telephoned the Kokomo bank. They found that he had $500 on deposit there and the check was good for that amount.

Tuesday he appeared at the bank and deposited a check for $1,740 on a bank in Lisbon, O., making his total deposit $2,240. In the meantime he had worked his way into the good graces of the bank officials, and when he wrote out a check for $1,000, stating that he wished the money to close a deed for a farm, the money was given him. He departed and shortly afterward the cashier became worried and called up the Lisbon bank by phone. The Lisbon bank cashier said that Tilton had no money on deposit there. Tilton has not been seen since.

MICE THE ROBBERS

Timely Discovery Relieves Suspense of Suspected Crooks.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 24.—Several alleged crooks who have been under the eyes of the police department for several days, suspected of having stolen a diamond ring and some money from a saloon here, breathed a sigh of relief when both ring and money were found. Mice were the thieves. The ring, which had been left in the cash register together with some paper money, had been dragged out by mice and was found behind the register concealed in a crevice. The ring was in good condition, but the money was badly mutilated.

RIGHT TO RICHES.

Most millionaires' wives are not happy. They have too many luxuries and have no mental resources to fall back upon. Some of my partners have been unjustly criticised for what was not their fault, but the fault of their wives. I would rather be born poor than a millionaire, and I have had experience in both directions. I have made forty-two or forty-three millionaires in my time, but I want to say that the only right a man has to wealth lies in his acquiring it by some useful labor. The great trouble with the wealth of today is that the sons of millionaires do not realize this very necessity of being useful to the community. Work that one is not glad to do never amounts to much. Still all the time.—Andrew Carnegie.

THE PRESIDENT HAD BUSY DAY

Old Soldiers Give Him a Heartly Greeting.

TWENTY THOUSAND VETERANS

Survivors of Great Struggle Pass in Review Before the Chief Executive of the Nation—in a Later Address to the Veterans the President Contrasts the Great Problem of the Past With Those of the Present Day.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Recalling the dark days of the civil war, the sight of 20,000 veterans of that struggle, gave a twist to President Taft's address last night before the G. A. R.'s campfire at the national encampment which is being held here. Mr. Taft had come to talk of peace and he held his address principally to this topic, but the reflection of the immense struggle which had centered about the old men who marched before him in the parade a few hours before contrasted in his mind the political struggle that has seethed about him for the last few months and which was only temporarily relieved by the adjournment of congress, and his thoughts turned naturally to this channel. He said that when he was tempted to think of his own troubles he had only to think of the troubles of Lincoln.

"When we contemplate what we have lived through and what we have accomplished," he said, "it ought to encourage us to feel that the problems before us are slight in comparison with those we have solved."

Rochester gave Mr. Taft a busy day. First in an automobile ride in the morning they gave Rochester a sight of the president, and in a second ride in the afternoon they gave the president a sight of Rochester. A line of march had been marked out for the president's journey to the reviewing stand, where he was to witness the parade of the veterans. A large crowd lined the streets and proved that Rochester was an eager host to him. For nearly an hour he rode about the streets and then for three hours he reviewed file after file of veterans. More than 20,000 veterans were in the line of march.

Their commander-in-chief, John E. Gilman, and Major General Frederick Dent Grant, occupied the reviewing stand with the president. Of course the famous G. A. R. file and drum corps, with the fifteen (boys of '61), whose ages now total 1,024 years, led the line of veterans. Fortunately the weather favored them, but it was a task, and many were so occupied with the duty of keeping step that they did not catch sight of the president as they passed. Some even came back and shouted out that they did not want to miss him.

It was perhaps the greatest parade the veterans have participated in in the last decade, and for many of the old soldiers it will be the last. Stirring as the spectacle was, it was not without its pathos. Many a veteran started out bravely with figure erect, and succumbed before the march was over. Relief stations and hospitals were kept busy attending to the wants of the veterans. The march started at 10 o'clock, and before the end of the column had wheeled into line, the vanguard had passed the reviewing stand and had disbanded.

Interest in the encampment centers in the contest for commander-in-chief. Colonel John McElroy of Washington, editor of the official organ of the G. A. R., the National Tribune, is making a big fight for the honor. His contestant in the field is Judge Harvey M. Trimble of Illinois. Both men have many loyal supporters who are booming their respective candidates.

Profitable to Fertilize Clover

By JOHN B. ABBOTT

Associate in Soils, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

The fact that clover may need fertilization and that it can often be fertilized at a profit is quite generally overlooked, probably because clover is known to improve the fertility of the soil and is generally grown mainly for that purpose rather than as a money crop. As a matter of fact the use of mineral elements, phosphoric acid and potash, and in some cases lime as well, often makes all the difference between success and failure. The experimental field in southern Indiana, part of which is shown in the accompanying cut, is a case in point. This field had been heavily cropped and rather poorly cared for for about 75 years when the experiment was started in the fall of 1905. Clover has been seeded on parts of this field every spring since 1906, but has never made a satisfactory crop on the unfertilized parts of the field, the land remaining bare except for a few weeds as shown on the left-hand side of the cut. During the same period, clover had never been a complete failure on the limed and fertilized plots, one of which is shown in the right-hand side of the cut.

These results are about what may be noted on naturally poor or badly worn soils in all parts of the country. Clover failures are of course sometimes due to unfavorable weather, or in the case of over-rich soils to smothering out by the nurse crop, but in very many cases it is simply a case of starvation. The soil has become too poor to raise clover. Such cases demand immediate attention; for soils that fail to grow clover are pretty sure to run down in fertility very rapidly.

It is generally recognized that the tubercle forming, nitrogen fixing bacteria, which after all are what makes clover valuable, will not tolerate an acid reaction of the soil, and this being the case the first step to success with clover is the correction of soil acidity by an application of about two tons per acre of finely ground limestone or slaked lime, which should be disked in before wheat is sown. It is to be noted, however, that not all soils which fail to grow clover are acid, and limestone should be tried in an experimental way before going to any great expense for liming, which may not do any good.

The next thing to be considered is the physical condition of the soil. Clover is very tender as a seedling plant, and must not be expected to thrive in a soil so devoid of decaying organic matter that it puddles when wet and bakes and cracks wide open when dry. No small tender plants could stand such treatment. A good coat of manure will go far towards correcting this condition, or a vigorous, large-seeded legume such as the cow pea may be grown and plowed under, after which it will be much easier to get a stand of clover.

Finally, after the physical condition of the soil has been made good enough so that clover can get a start, and acidity has been corrected by the use of lime so that clover can utilize the atmospheric nitrogen, there remains the necessity of fertilization. Clover feeds upon the same elements that other crops do, and gets them from the soil in the same way with the exception of nitrogen, and if the soil is too poor in the mineral elements to grow grain crops successfully, it is likewise too poor to grow clover. It is not necessary or advisable to provide a special fertilizer for clover. It is better practice to fertilize the preceding small grain crop liberally enough so that there will be some left over for the clover. The application of less than 200 pounds of fertilizer per acre for wheat certainly does not provide for a sufficient amount and it is probable that 300 pounds per acre is not at all excessive.

PRUNING MATURE APPLE TREES

By C. G. WOODBURY

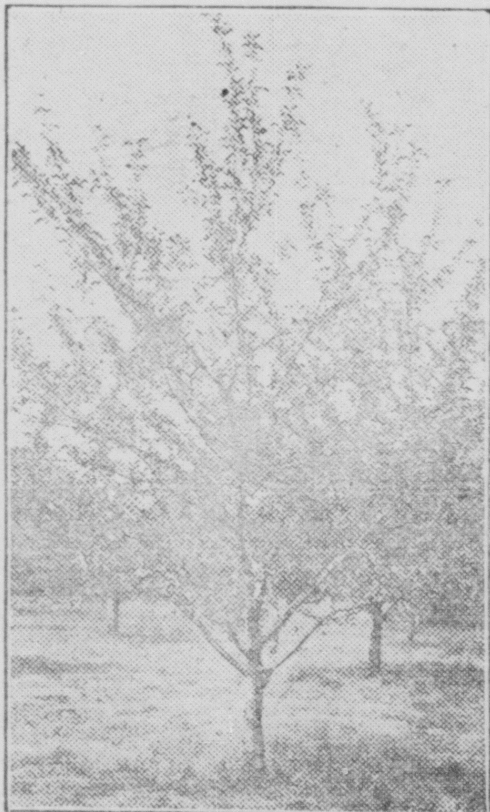

Horticulturist, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

It was shown in the last pruning lesson how wrongly made pruning wounds open the way for the entrance of disease which either kills the tree outright or shortens its life by many years. The main idea brought out was to make clean, close cuts and to paint over large wounds.

The best time for pruning is one of the questions which the orchard owner most often asks. The answer depends upon the purpose for which the pruning is done. The most common advantage gained by judicious pruning of mature apple trees is the opened from a bud, is engaged in a fierce struggle with neighboring buds and neighboring branches, for access to the light and the air which are essential to their development. In this struggle many succumb. Many more are nearly overpowered by stronger neighbors and lead a half-starved, feeble existence. It is the business of the fruit grower to select those buds in the young tree or those branches of the mature tree whose preservation will benefit the whole tree. Thus the relieving of competition, the pruning away of the unfit, and the feeble, is a benefit to the whole collection of units which make up the tree. Each one which remains can and should have free access to light and air. Every one should be removed, whether large or small, which is poorly placed and which is not fit to survive and bear fruit.

relieving of competition, between branch and branch. A mature apple tree should not be looked upon as an individual being, such as a horse or cow, the entire body of which suffers if any part of it is removed or injured. The tree rather represents an aggregation of competing units, a colony of individuals all striving for their own development, regardless of the effect upon their neighbors. The bud is the unit, rather than the tree. Every bud and every branch devel-pruning which is so necessary in every mature orchard is probably late winter and early spring. Some good fruit growers defer the work until after growth starts in the spring, thinking that the wounds heal a little more rapidly after the sap begins to flow actively. In a large orchard, however, there are so many other things to do after growth begins in the way of spraying, cultivation, etc., that it is well to have the pruning out of the way.

UNUSUAL INTEREST IN THIS YEAR'S ENCAMPMENT OF G. A. R. VETERANS

45th Meeting Coincides With 50th Anniversary of War's Start
Most Patriotic Organization
In the Country's History

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.
THE national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, held at Rochester, N.
Y., in the week beginning Aug. 21, is of more than ordinary interest in that it marks the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the civil war and the forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the G. A. R. It is not too much to say that this has been the most important patriotic order in our history, containing in its ranks presidents, senators, representatives, supreme court justices, governors, foreign ambassadors and scores of other eminent officials in all branches of military, naval and civil life. While as an organization the G.
A. R. has never participated in partisan politics as such, it has wielded an immense political influence. Its moral effect on the younger generation none can measure, but with its powerful appeal to the imagination, affection and patriotism of the country it has been tremendous.

Considering the fact that the civil war was fought for the most part by volunteer armies and that at its close these citizen soldiers returned quietly to the vocations of peace, the Grand Army of the Republic stands without a parallel in the history of the human race. It is a testimonial to democracy, a tribute to popular government, a flesh and blood witness of American-ism such as to challenge the respect of the world and of the ages. Never, perhaps, did a human institution offer a more complete or more speedy proof of its merit than did the great republic in the trial by fire out of which the Grand Army grew. When millions of men offer their lives for a flag and an ideal and after their task is accomplished peacefully disband and return to their homes it is a demonstration that something higher than selfishness governs human action.

We are still too close to the civil war period to realize its true significance. To so realize it we must see it as a whole and contrast it with other times and climes. Only the historians of another age, only the vision of the future, can discern its full meaning. To behold the sublimity of a great mountain, or the beauty of a fine painting, we must be at a certain distance. That gives us perspective, mellows the rough outlines and surfaces and affords us a whole view.
To understand the civil war, to take its measure, we must look at it against the background of the past; we must set it over against the old world. The civil war era gave us Lincoln, freed the slave, preserved the republic and produced an army that voluntarily effaced itself when liberty and union were assured. With almost illimitable power the army used that power only for the general good. Seen in this aspect, nothing finer or higher was ever exhibited by so great a mass of men in a secular cause.

What the G. A. R. Typifies.
This is something of what the Grand Army typifies to the younger generation. But in my own view our appreciation is as nothing compared to that which will be expressed when the one hundredth or two hundredth anniversary of the struggle is celebrated.
What would the people of that day give for the spectacle which we behold! We have thousands of the old soldiers yet with us. In 1901 there will remain naught but a memory. To the people of that day the Grand Army will be almost as distant as Washington's army is from us.
Perhaps peace will then be universal.
Perhaps liberty and enlightenment will have spread to all lands and races. Perhaps there may even be a republic of the whole world. Considering the speed with which race evolution and progress now move, these things are all possible. If these results, or something like them, shall have then been reached, how much will they lend to the glamour of this war, which was so powerful a factor in promoting them!

When America is as thickly peopled as Europe, when music, painting and poetry, when the higher culture and learning, shall have come to crown our civilization, when all sectionalism and partisan passion—at least as we now know them—shall have utterly disappeared, what an appeal will the courage and sacrifice, the unselfishness and idealism, of the civil war make to the people of that day! What a tender and gentle memory will Lincoln become!
What a beauty will the words union and emancipation take on! How will our children's children in that day thrill to read the old story! What would it mean to them if they could have the trotting and gray haired soldiers march down the streets of their cities!

The Debt We Owe.
Seen in this light, each annual encampment of the Grand Army takes on a new significance. It is a privilege and an opportunity—a privilege to read history in flesh and blood letters to hear it from the lips of those who made it; an opportunity to express to these soldiers while living some of the gratitude and love with which the future will lower their memory.

We cannot pay a debt of gratitude wholly in pensions or in offices or in printed tributes. It can only be paid from a nation's full heart, expressed in the loving words and deeds of all the citizens of that nation. We are apt to say: "Yes, there's old Bill Jones. He fought in the war. I know him. Poor old duffer!" Or, "There's Tom Smith; he's in the soldiers' home; lives off the government; gets a pension, too, and we foot the bill." Yet we do not remember that the government first lived off Tom Smith and his kind—that if it had not been for these it would not have lived at all; that they tramped through rain and mud, ice and snow, slept in the fields and in old barns, ate hardtack, faced death, lost arms and legs and health, groaned in hospitals or rotted in prisons, that we might have peace and protection, that we might make enough to pay taxes. We fail to remember, also, that the poor old Bill Jones and Tom Smith—at least in their collective capacity—are among the immortals.

Perhaps the people of Athens said:
"Yes, there's old Socrates, goes bare-

Photo of group of veterans copyright by American Press Association.

footed, lives with a scolding wife and ask funny questions. I know him.
Poor old Socrates!" Or, "That's old Gal-lei; had a crazy notion that the world is round. What d'ye think of that?
Took it all back, though, when they put him in jail." Yet these names, despised in their own day, have become far shining through the ages to enchant the eyes of the world. Well, the old soldiers may not individually
be of the Socrates or Galilei stature.
There are only one or two such giants born each century. Yet these blue coated ones gave what they had. And taken all together, merging them in a composite photograph, as it were, this typical private soldier of the north,
this plowboy or clerk or factory hand that answered the call of "Father Abraham" and fought under Grant, will be a figure seen as far as any.
He, too, is among the immortals. And just as we would give a king's ransom, perhaps, for the privilege to touch a hem of the garment of a Plato or a Paul, a Shakespeare or a Cromwell, so the future would offer an equal price for a button from the old army blouse or a lock into the faded eyes of the men who saved the republic in "the times that tried men's souls."

We of today have them without money and without price. Here they come—"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching." "We'll rally round the flag, boys!" "Coming, Father Abraham." "Hurrah! Hurrah! We bring the jubilee!" Their feet halt, perhaps, but their eyes shine. Pathetic stoop in the shoulders, but how they straighten when the fife shrill into one of the old tunes! Look at them well. You will never have the chance to see so many of them together again.

Hold your boy high so that he may see all the details and drink in all the lesson. Perhaps some day his shoulders will bear the burdens of the republic and he will remember that his father held him aloft to see the good gray soldiers of the old war.

I would not give much for a man who can behold a spectacle like this without growing misty eyed and swallowing hard. It is not alone a question of patriotism, but one of imagination and of a human heart. These white haired men have lived a Homeric epic.
They have wrestled with the Titans that make and destroy nations. They have performed deeds that will give the world something to talk and write about for a thousand years. They are blood brothers of those who fought at Marathon, at Zama, at Tours, at Askalon, at Moncontour, at Naseby and at Bunker Hill. They are those who hewed out one of the red steps in the stairway on which humanity mounts upward. Men will read their story when America is as old as Europe and When the war drums throb no longer and the battle flags are furled
in the parliament of man, the federation of the world.

History of Encampments.

The Rochester meeting is the forty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The first post was organized at Decatur, Ill., April 6, 1863. There were two or three men who had been active in promoting the idea, but the honor of being known as the founder of the G. A. R. is given to Major Benjamin F. Stephenson, who has a monument in Washington.

The first annual encampment was held at Indianapolis, Nov. 20, 1863.
General Stephen A. Hurlbut of Illinois was made commander in chief.
There seems to have been no annual encampment in 1867, but the next year
one gathered at Philadelphia and General John A. Logan, the "Black Eagle of Illinois," was made the head. He

SLOW TIME IN FIRST DAY'S CARD

Heavy Track at Fair Ground Curtails Sport, Causing Horses to go Slowly.

RUTH FEAR WINS APPLAUSE

Exciting Finish Made in Third Heat of Pace—Small Accident in Last Heat.

Only slow time could be made in the first day races at the Rush county fair due to the heavy track. The drizzling rain most of the day made the track very slow and it was next to impossible to get any good time. The fastest time made was that by Little Ruth Fear of Shelbyville in an exhibition drive with a runner. She drove a half in 1:07 which was several seconds faster than the time made in any heat of the eight which were raced yesterday.

This afternoon's card was expected to bring out better racing as faster horses are entered in the events. The road pace this afternoon was expected to be one of the most interesting races on the three days' program. Local horses and local drivers were entered which was sufficient to insure a lot of interest in the race. The three-year-old pace, which was on today's card, had not filled yesterday and it was not expected that it would be raced. The road trot, in which Rush county horses were entered was not raced yesterday according to the schedule, but it is expected that it will be on the getaway day program.

A slight accident in the closing heat of yesterday's races served to mar the day's card to some degree although it happened after most of the crowd had left the grand stand late in the afternoon. Lady Maud A., owned by Dr. W. A. Smith of St. Louis Crossing, Bartholomew county, was going good while coming up the stretch on the first lap of the mile. She was leading the four sidewheelers and gave promise of winning the heat and race, as she had already won the third and fourth heats with ease. Just as she crossed the slight ridge in the track which has been made by so many vehicles crossing at the opening into the field in the center she suddenly began hopping on three legs. Due to the fact that she had on hobbles, it was feared that she would fall and injure herself and driver at any moment, but that was averted by the driver. She was pulled to one side and stopped within one hundred feet and did not interfere with the other horses.

The natural assumption was that the pretty black mare, which appeared to be the best horse of the bunch, had broken her left front leg. She could not bear her weight on it and various opinions were expressed as to the nature of her injury. It has not been determined just what the matter is and it will not be known until the soreness settles. Horsemen say that her leg may be broken near the shoulder. At any rate, the opinion is expressed that she will be worthless for a race horse.

The third heat of the 2:25 pace furnished the only real exciting finish of the afternoon. Richard S., a bay gelding owned by James Smith of Knightstown and driven by Clyde Nebro, a trainer of this city, won the first two heats of the race right off the reel. In the third heat Lady Maud A. pushed Richard S. hard and it was evident that there was going to be a thrilling finish. Lady Maud A. proved to be the faster and she passed Richard S. on the home stretch, beating him only by a length. She came back and won the next heat but was injured in the fifth when she had a fair chance to win the race.

King Edward, a bay gelding owned by Dell Miles of Raleigh and driven by Scott Brannum, the colored trainer of this city, looked like the most promising horse of the five in the first heat. He had everything his own way until the home stretch when he was apparently held and made to break, allowing Nebro to come in and win with Richard S. King Edward acted badly the next three heats, breaking time and again and then showing rare bursts of speed. Due to the fact that he is a green horse it was said that the owner did not care to mark him, but won the fifth heat handily and was given a very low mark.

There was some argument as to how the money should be divided at the close of the fifth heat. No horse had won three heats and there was some discussion as to whether or not the race should be raced off. Nebro had two heats and Brannum one heat, they being the only ones entitled to first money, as Lady Maud A., although she had two heats, was not entitled to be in the money on account of the accident. It was finally decided that Nebro should have first money and Brannum, second.

It is a notable fact that Clyde Nebro never saw the horse with which he won first money until yesterday. He drove the horse well and experienced no difficulty in taking the first two heats.

The driving of little Ruth Fear of Shelbyville was the feature of the afternoon's card. She drove two exhibition half miles and won loud applause from the grand stand. Her horse was lame and she handled the reins over the back of a strange horse from Frank Lindsay's stable behind which she had never ridden. The horse went the fastest half mile it ever paced, 1:07 flat.

The motorcycle races yesterday afternoon struck a popular chord and were repeated again this afternoon for that reason. All the riders were Rushville men which made the race even more interesting. By a rare burst of speed Bert Hileman passed Bert Moorman in the last half-mile of the three-mile race and furnished some rare sport at the finish. The other entrants were well bunched together.
